Police Response to Structure Fires

057-0308 / 30 minutes

This course is designed to teach both police officers and their supervisors how to respond to working structure fires. The course discusses the proper considerations for vehicle placement, actions needed, and information required to fully assist fire personnel in achieving life safety and property preservation activities.

Roll Call: Commercial Vehicle Searches

057-0307 / 30 minutes

Drug smugglers are constantly adapting their methods in order to evade police detection. This course examines the tools and methods currently being used to search commercial vehicles. We identify common contraband concealment containers and identifiers of drug courier vehicles as well as the challenges of searching large commercial vehicles.

Policing Extremists

111-0307 / 30 minutes

On a daily basis, law enforcement officers come in contact with members of extremist groups. Most of the time, these encounters end without incident. However, when an extremist chooses to create a conflict with law enforcement, it can lead to violence, serious injury, and in some cases, death to the officer. In some cases, the extremists encountered by law enforcement may be bent upon committing acts of domestic terrorism. This course discusses the correlation between extremism and domestic terrorism and what dangers are present for law enforcement officers each time they deal with a member of an extremist group. Additionally, identification of members of an extremist group as well as how to diffuse potentially violent confrontations with them are also presented.

Roll Call: Ethical Decision-Making in Law Enforcement, Part 1

057-0206 / 30 minutes

Law enforcement is under constant scrutiny, and officers are expected to act in an ethical manner at all times. Ethical dilemmas arise throughout an officer's career; therefore, regular and intensive training must be carried out to provide the officer with a decision-making framework. This course, part one of a two-part series, discusses ethics, integrity, and ethical decision-making frameworks. The negative effects brought about by unethical actions are discussed in the context of the officer, the department, and the officer's family.

Tactical Thinking: Traffic Stops—Environmental Concerns

111-0003 / 30 minutes

When making a traffic stop, the officer is often focused on the reason for the stop and the occupants of the vehicle. To maintain safety, another important element must be constantly considered: the safety of the surrounding environment. Because of rising environmental safety concerns, the IACP Highway Safety Committee and multiple police agencies have partnered with NHTSA to establish the Law Enforcement Stops and Safety (LESS) Subcommittee. This course examines tactical thinking as it relates to the environmental safety of officers during traffic stops. The purpose, composition, and focus of LESS will be emphasized.

SUPPORT

Legal Update 2005-2006

111-0308 / 30 minutes

This course is designed to provide you with information on recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions that will directly impact your daily operations. This information will allow you to conduct stops, searches, investigations, and arrests that will hold up in court and avoid civil liability.

Traffic Stops and Racial Profiling: Minimizing Conflict

111-0015 / 30 minutes

Traffic stops are among the most common interactions between the public and the police. Unfair and illegal practices such as discriminatory profiling can have a major negative impact on the public perception of law enforcement. This series examines the practice of racial profiling as it relates to traffic stops. In part six, we walk you through several scenarios that help identify the proper verbal approach on a traffic stop. We identify both the right actions that can help you minimize any possible conflicts while maximizing cooperation with a motorist.

GIS: Providing the Foundation for Real-Time Intelligence, Part 2

405-0707 / 30 minutes

GIS is a critical component of a sustainable planning process to establish terrorist prevention and mitigation strategies, effective response capability, expedient recovery, and analyzing potential threats. This course examines technological solutions that make GIS applications readily available in times of disaster and explains how GIS applications play a vital role in disaster mitigation.

CSI: Enhancement of Partial Impressions in Blood

160-0009 / 30 minutes

A crime scene can yield numerous clues. Although impressions in blood can be identified, the enhancement of partial impressions can mean the difference between an unsolved case and breaking a case wide open. This course explores a few techniques for enhancing partial impressions in blood. A number of well-established and cutting-edge techniques are both explained and demonstrated. Real-world cases are discussed where these techniques were responsible for providing investigators the vital evidence they needed to ultimately solve the case.

Explosives Identification: Commercial Explosives

888-0245 / 30 minutes

Police officers and emergency personnel need to know about explosives. This knowledge is necessary not only because of 9/11, or because of such major tragedies as the Oklahoma City bombing in April 1995 and the World Trade Center bombing in February 1993, but also because of their daily encounters with explosives that do not make the headlines. Mike Pickett, one of the most knowledgeable people about explosives in the fire service today, shares how first responders can identify various types of commercial explosives. Mike will describe some of the explosives routinely found, from blasting caps to dynamite, as well as those found at major crime scenes. This course also covers preparing for bomb scares, the motives of bombers, triggering mechanisms, types of bomb threats, planning and equipment for bomb scares, and general search procedures.

FIRSTaid: Sudden In-Custody Death Syndrome

070-1005 / 30 minutes

Sudden in-custody death syndrome is a major concern for all officers facing violently resisting individuals. This course takes an in-depth look at this controversial issue. You will learn how to assess who is at risk, how to handle at-risk individuals, and how to minimize your risk in subduing the subject.
