

Calibre Presents Roll Call: Corrections and Terrorism

057-0706

Corrections has been “left out of the loop” when it comes to Homeland Security. Inmates have the potential to be future terrorists, and the next terrorist threat to the United States may be an inmate in your facility. This course focuses on the potential for terrorist and extremist activity within detention facilities, how to spot it, and methods of counter-terrorism that can be employed by correctional officers.

Tactical Thinking: Physiology of Assault

111-0007

This course describes the chemicals in the body that prompt the body to react in a physical confrontation and the physiological activity that takes over the body once the chemical compounds are expended. It also defines combat stress and describes what can happen to the human body after prolonged exposure to stress.

Prescription for Performance, Part 2

111-0009

In order to perform your duties safely and effectively, you must maintain peak physical conditioning. This course covers the basics of a physical conditioning course that will keep you in top shape.

Calibre Presents Roll Call: Armored and Dangerous

057-0705

The North Hollywood Bank shootout was an example of a dangerous trend confronting law enforcement. Bandits wearing body armor and brandishing assault rifles are becoming more common; they are turning up in cities and towns across the country. We show you how two communities responded when faced with desperate criminals who were armored and dangerous.

Interview and Interrogation, Part 3 of 4: Adults vs. Juveniles

160-0805

Interviewing and interrogating a juvenile requires special consideration. There are legal requirements that must be observed as well as targeted techniques that will help you get the most information from your suspect. This course looks at how you can effectively interrogate a juvenile while staying within the boundaries of the law.

Natural Disasters: Mudslides & Earthquakes

040-0013

Originally intended for EMS first responders, PULSE training modules can help prepare you for instances when you arrive first to a medical scene. Each natural disaster presents its own set of unique challenges. You likely will be called upon to help with rescue efforts, clean-up and order maintenance, among other things. This course discusses the challenges of mudslides and earthquakes. Besides the obvious physical damage, there are many factors to consider.

Calibre Presents Roll Call: Pre-Incident Indicators

057-4010

Have you ever been on a call when “gut instinct” told you that an assault was about to occur, and sure enough it did? That feeling was not created out of thin air; you subconsciously recognized “pre-indicators” the subject was giving off just before he or she attacked you. This course will help you recognize indicators that an assault is about to occur so you can plan options and strategies for defense.

Less-Lethal Force, Part 2: Impact Projectiles

163-0018

Officers face an ever-increasing number of challenging situations, including those involving armed, non-assaultive, and non-compliant subjects. Impact projectiles are often deployed in such cases and have generally been proven safe and effective when properly used by trained personnel. This course addresses the contemporary use of 12-gauge impact projectiles.
