A+	Roll Call: First Responder Level Hostage Negotiations	057-0605	30 minute video plus course materials	When you are faced with a barricaded subject, a suicidal subject, or a hostage taker, you must try to bring the situation to a quick and safe conclusion. When the subject refuses to comply and is contained, the first responder must rely on his communication skills to de-escalate the incident, maintain control and safety, and provide support when the tactical and negotiations teams arrive. This lesson provides fundamental training in handling critical incidents and establishing person-to-person communication.
A+	Roll Call: Pistolcraft—Untangling the Snakes	057-0707	30 minute video plus course materials	If you failed at doing something 85 percent of the time, would you consider yourself proficient at it? That is what police officers do in real world gunfights—they hit their intended target only 15 percent of the time. In this course, we look at how police officers are actually trained to do what they do with their pistols. We examine how the pistol training of today evolved into what it is, and we look at both the good and the bad. We also untangle the confusing system that pistol training has become and introduce you to the New Paradigm of Pistolcraft.
A+	Defining Leadership	111-0707	30 minute video plus course materials	"Leadership is all about people. It is not about organizations. It is not about plans. It is not about strategies. It is about people motivating people to get the job done." This quote by General Colin Powell describes what real leadership is all about—individual actions and interactions with others. In this course, we define leadership and the attributes, skills, and process of leadership. We also describe the core competencies necessary for an individual to be successful, which include honesty, integrity, forward thinking, competency, and inspiration.
A+	Roll Call: Corrections and Terrorism	057-0706	30 minute video plus course materials	Corrections has been "left out of the loop" with regard to Homeland Security. Inmates have the potential to be future terrorists, and the next terrorist threat to the United States may be an inmate in your facility. This course focuses on the potential for terrorist and extremist activity within detention facilities, how to spot it, and methods of counter-terrorism that can be employed by correctional officers.
A+	Tactical Thinking: Physiology of Assault	111-0007	30 minute video plus course materials	This course describes the chemicals in the body that prompt the body to react in a physical confrontation and the physiological activity that takes over the body once the chemical compounds are expended. The course also defines combat stress and describes what can happen to the human body after prolonged exposure to stress.
A+	Violent Offenders Analysis, Part 3: What Makes Them Tick	179-0120	30 minute video plus course materials	To understand a violent criminal, you have to know how he or she thinks, feels, and views the world. FBI SSA Alan Brantley returns to continue violent offender analysis. In part three of a six-part series, Brantley reminds us that a criminal's view of the world is likely a lot different than ours.
A+	Hostage Negotiations, Part 1	197-0187	30 minute video plus course materials	In this course, federal and local negotiators present case studies at a conference sponsored by the Arkansas State Police, the Criminal Justice Institute at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, and the FBI. Presenters include conference organizer Mark Allen of the Arkansas State Police and supervisory special agent Gary Noesner of the Special Operations and Research (SOAR) unit at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va.
A+	Wilderness Series, Part 3: Patrolling Applications	179-0154	30 minute video plus course materials	In part three of our wilderness series, we take a critical look at the tactical applications of patrolling techniques learned in part one. Various types of terrain other than urban must be effectively negotiated to ensure mission resolution. Join us for a demonstration of tactical field skills as we close on an objective site.
A+	Tactical Patrol: Aggressive Patrol and Order Maintenance Policing, Part 1	163-0011	30 minute video plus course materials	This course is the first of a two-part series on patrol strategies and tactics. Part one focuses on aggressive patrol and crackdowns as well as order maintenance policing. The purpose of this two-part series is to provide officers with an understanding of strategies that can be utilized during uncommitted time, when they are not answering calls for service or performing other activities.
A+	Digital Crime: Storage Forensics Fundamentals	152-0005	30 minute video plus course materials	This course introduces officers to the most common source of evidence in computer-related crime investigations: storage media. Officers will gain a basic familiarity with storage technology and apply these concepts to analysis of seized hard drives and recognition of diverse storage media.
