A+	Roll Call: Tactical Edged Weapon Defense	057-0907	30 min plus course materials	The edged weapon attack that is a problem and has no simple solution is the one that is initiated without much warning after an officer has placed himself or herself in close proximity to an offender during a vehicle stop, a frisk, an arrest, or a foot chase. Officers need to recognize the threat, respond to a sudden aggressive arm motion, and gain positional and tactical advantage.
A+	Leadership Principles	111-0907	30 min plus course materials	From a very early age, each of us has been taught that it is important to live a life full of principles. As we matured, we understood that principles are basic assumptions that represent an important underlying law or belief. In this course, we look at the principles of leadership with a focus on those things that people do to fail at leadership, describe those principles that remain constant over time, and finally, look at the challenges facing law enforcement leaders in the 21st century.
A+	Roll Call: Behaviors That Could Cost You Your Life	057-0906	30 min plus course materials	Every day, police officers die in the line of duty. These incidents happen during crime incidents as well as during routine activities such as traffic stops, training, and physical conditioning. This course identifies the most common of these incidents and outlines prevention techniques that can be employed to keep officers safer on the job.
A+	Sex Crimes, Part 1: Child Pornography	164-0102	30 min plus course materials	Child pornography is a growing problem due to proliferation of such material electronically and the perceived anonymity the Internet offers. Increasingly, law enforcement officials find themselves becoming "Internet police" in efforts to control the proliferation of child pornography. This course overviews the nature of the problem of child pornography, the extent of the problem, the effects of child pornography, and law enforcement efforts to combat child pornography.
A+	Sex Crimes, Part 2: Child Molestation	164-0103	30 min plus course materials	In part two of our series on sex crimes, LETN explores the nature and dynamics of child molestation and exploitation. This course takes you for a ride with the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement and the Fort Worth, Texas, Police Department as they share how their agencies are successfully prosecuting sex offenders. Our presentation also reviews the dynamics of these offenses and explores the tactics used by the offenders in order to enlighten the viewer about the nature of these types of crimes.
A+	Roll Call: Officer Down, Part 2	057-4008	30 min plus course materials	It is the most hated call of all. When this call comes in, the entire department goes into condition red. In part two of this two-part Roll Call course, we complete our look at officer down from the point of view of an officer gunned down during a "routine" traffic stop.
A+	Identity Crimes, Part 1	160-0105	30 min plus course materials	Identity theft is the fastest growing crime in the United States. Part one of this two-part series looks at the victim: how one becomes a victim, what the victim must do in damage control, and the steps individuals can take to lessen the odds of becoming a victim.
A+	Identity Crimes, Part 2	160-0205	30 min plus course materials	The federal government has enacted laws that establish what constitutes identity theft, created a central clearinghouse to assist victims and law enforcement at all levels, and redefined the meaning of the term victim. Part two looks at the role of the investigator and the federal resources available to assist in the investigation.
A+	True Stories of Hostage Negotiation	185-0108	30 min plus course materials	Join NYPD Captain Frank Bolz, Jr., founding member of one of the nation's first hostage negotiation units, as he discusses the historical background and training goals of such a program. Actual incident information highlights this innovative course.
A+	Roll Call: Use of Force: Command Presence	057-0305	30 min plus course materials	The presence of a police officer on the scene is the first level of the use of force. The officer must project confidence and control before he or she speaks to the subject. Command presence is the subject's perception that the officer is capable of handling any situation that comes his or her way. Command presence is conveyed not only by such bearing as stance, attitude, and the way an officer "carries" himself or herself but also by the officer's professional appearance, which includes shined shoes and a pressed uniform. Command presence is important; it is the first step in keeping an officer alive.
A+	Violent Offender Analysis, Part 5: Know Your Enemy	179-0122	30 min plus course materials	What you find at the scene of a violent crime will tell you a lot about the person who committed the crime. To know your enemies, you must study what they do. In fact, offenders often leave messages for the investigator.
