A+	The H1N1 Flu: Issues and Answers	111-1009	30 minute video plus course materials	This course is designed for first responders, including law enforcement officers. When a disaster strikes, the burden of responding to a pandemic influenza falls primarily on first responders, such as emergency medical service personnel, law enforcement officers, public health officials, and healthcare workers. In order to lessen disastrous effects caused by influenza pandemic, first responders and emergency services personnel must have the knowledge and skills to implement sound and valid disease-control measures and implement activities to ensure a sustainable medical healthcare system.
A+	Confined Area Survival Tactics, Part 2	176-2169	30 minute video plus course materials	Our series on "fighting in a phone booth" continues with Phil Messina of Modern Warrior. In this installment, we become acquainted with the philosophy, "Defense never achieves victory ... it only postpones defeat." The effective use of time, environmental weapons, and empty-hand procedures all lead to success.
A+	Violent Offenders Analysis, Part 6: Dangerousness	179-0123	30 minute video plus course materials	You can't judge a book by its cover, and you often can't judge a violent offender by his appearance. There are, however, things that will help indicate the dangerousness of an individual. FBI SSA Alan Brantley outlines a user-friendly guide for identifying potential offenders. He examines the traits and characteristics shared by most, if not all, violent repeat offenders.
A+	Body Armor—Protecting the Protectors	057-4002	30 minute video plus course materials	We all know you should wear your body armor every day for the ballistic protection it offers. In this course, we meet an officer whose body armor saved him from a projectile of unbelievable proportion. Deputy Frank Hernandez is alive today only because his protective vest deflected the object away from his vital organs. It is an inspiring tale of survival that you will never forget.
A+	Sex Crimes, Part 1: Child Pornography	164-0102	30 minute video plus course materials	Child pornography is a growing problem due to proliferation of such material electronically and the perceived anonymity the Internet offers. Increasingly, law enforcement officials find themselves becoming "Internet police" in efforts to control the proliferation of child pornography. This course overviews the nature of the problem of child pornography, the extent of the problem, the effects of child pornography, and law enforcement efforts to combat child pornography.
A+	Criminal Profiling, Part 1: History of Profiling	164-0001	30 minute video plus course materials	This course provides an overview of the history of the FBI's Behavioral Sciences Unit and VICAP. Profiling and the different types of profiling are also discussed.
A+	Criminal Profiling, Part 2: Constructing a Profile	164-0002	30 minute video plus course materials	In this second installment of our criminal profiling series, we explore the range of techniques used to profile criminals. Because each of these techniques has led to successful capture, it is a great body of knowledge, whether you are just starting out or are in need a refresher.
A+	Digital Crime: The Organizational Response to Computer Crime	152-0001	30 minute video plus course materials	This course introduces a variety of issues in the law enforcement response to computer crime. It examines the organizational response to computer crime through staffing, training, and coordination between with other agencies at the local, state, national, and even international levels.
A+	Duty Weapons Safe at Home	057-0205	30 minute video plus course materials	Police officers are well aware of their responsibilities when it comes to protecting their duty handguns from negligent or improper use. Too often, however, many officers seem to forget or ignore these lessons once they arrive home from work and cross the threshold into the safety of their homes. This course looks at ways to assist officers so they may succeed in providing safety to not only themselves and those around them on the streets but also to those in their homes.
A+	Geographic Information Systems: Getting Started	056-0001	30 minute video plus course materials	This course focuses on understanding the process of getting started with a geographic information system (GIS). In addition, focus is given to the various methods that can be employed to make this process more successful.
A+	Pursuit Driving	163-0004	30 minute video plus course materials	This course will provide information on police pursuits. Reasons and the need for pursuits will be discussed. Pursuit polices, techniques of pursuit, and the termination of pursuit will be covered.
